

Fullarton Market Terms and Condition

Bookings:

- Stall Size Compliance:
All stallholders must setup within the allotted 3x3 site, and marquees must limit any overhang into adjoining stalls.
- Caravans and vehicles:
All sites that wish to include a trailer or vehicle as part of their stall site must speak with the market organiser before booking. This includes food trucks, car boot style stalls and any other fixed site that exists beyond the standard 3x3 gazebo stall.
- Payment:
All bookings and payments for the Fullarton Market are received and processed through the official Fullarton Market website only. With the exception of permanent bookings which are by arrangement with the market organiser.
- Bookings and stalls sites:
All stall sites and configurations are at the discretion of the market organiser and alterations to site, location and market stall placings can change where required.
- Booking Allocations:
The Fullarton Market has a set number of stall sites available per market via our online booking portal. Once this allotment is exhausted it will not be possible for stall sites to progress beyond the booking page to the payment gateway. Any booking that is not fully processed due to the market being full will not register as a received or successful booking.
- Refusal of Site
If it is deemed that your stall site or business is unsafe or does not fit with the Fullarton Markets ethos, objectives or goals. The Fullarton Market reserves the right to refuse a site without disclosure. Sites will also not be allowed if they offer a standard BBQ comprising of a sausage sizzle, or their stall actively sells ready to drink coffee style beverages. (This is set out as part of the booking process)

REGULATION AND COMPLIANCE:

- Food Safety:
All stalls looking to offer, sell, display or offer sample food items or consumables that fall under the category of food, must have a current and dated food business number and submit relevant paperwork when booking a site. If a site does not have the required food business number in place by the event date, then their site is void for customer safety reasons.
- Food Handling:
All stalls looking to offer, sell, display or giveaway food items or consumables that fall under the category of food must show good health, safe food handling practices and have a designated hand washing station and utensils constantly monitor all temperatures. There is also a requirement during COVID-19 that hand sanitiser and other extra cleaning measures are followed (As set out in the relevant council's safety guidelines)

- Insurance and Liability:
Stallholders are encouraged to have current and compliant public liability insurance for their business or stall setup. If required stalls must present their Public Liability to the Fullarton Market upon request.
- No Product Liability:
The Fullarton Market in no way covers Product Liability for any stalls or part thereof.
- Stallholder Setup and Pack up Safety:
The Fullarton Market and its associated entities and associated persons are in no way liable or at fault for any safety, movement, coordination, setup, dismantling or part of any individual stall or stallholder's property or deemed property. Stallholders are required to conduct themselves in a safe manor throughout the event and during setup and pack up.
- Power and Equipment Safety
All stalls and stallholders who require power, cooking facilities and any form of electrical, moving, stationary, light or heavy equipment outside of the Fullarton Markets standard stall setup (Single table and 3x3 Tent) to run their stalls, must have the correct safety procedures and handling in place. The stallholder holds innocent the Fullarton Market and its associated entities and associated persons from any liability associated with these items and their function and use.
- Power Cords
All power cords are the responsibility of their said owners and are required to be tested and tagged when used as part of the Fullarton Market. All power that is onsite must be approved by the market and installed by market staff.
